Arthur was born in London, England. He immigrated to Virginia.

Birth 1615 is a guess, based on his receiving 200 acres for four headrights at Henrico County, Virginia in 1637.

Immigration

Arthur, as Arthur "Bayly" twice received land in return for headrights, (paying the fare for immigrants to Virginia). On January 15 and 16, 1637/8, he received three grants in Henrico County, 200 acres for four headrights, 800 acres for sixteen headrights, and 300 acres for five and his own personal adventure.[2] The 800 acre parcel was in partnership with Thomas Crosby.[2]

On May 6, 1638, the property in Henrico County was sold to Ann Hallom, widow of Robert Hallom, as a 1,000-acre tract. The Hallom patent referred to Arthur Bayly as "Merchant," and did not mention Thomas Crosby.[2]

Event

Type: Arrival
Date: 1638
Place: Virginia, USA[3]

Property

The record at Jamestown included an entry on 9: 22: 1638, that Arthur Bailey, Merchant, was granted half an acre in James City Island.

When Arthur Bayly and Thomas Crosby paid passage for sixteen people, some of those were their indentured servants. Another record at Jamestown included this entry, "Busby, Tho., Arthur Bayly's servant, 1637, by Arthur Bayly and Tho. Crosby, Henrico Co." The servants for Arthur were: Jonas Bowers, William Calfe, John Duch, William Greene, Mary Doubty, Jeremiah Burr, Thomas Busby, and John Harris.[2]

Family

We know that Arthur married to Mary Jordan, and that they were living at Surry County with their infant son, Edward, in 1656.[4] Mary married, as her, 2nd to Christopher Foster.[4]

Children of Arthur and Mary:[4]

1. Edward b before 1656

Marriage

Husband: Arthur Bailey
Wife: Mary Jordan
Child: Edward Bailey
Marriage:

Date: 1654[5]

Occupation

Bailey-5891 and Bailey-3105 appear to represent the same person because: Unclear whether these two represent the same person or not. Without citations, it is impossible to be sure.

Please allow the manager of 5891 to approve or not.

Thanks!

Arthur was referred to as a "merchant." The largest crop in Virginia at the time was tobacco, and Arthur was in the business of buying and selling that crop. He was one of the signers of a "Petition of the Merchants and Traders of Virginia ..." dated August 3, 1658.[6] In this petition, the merchants were encouraging the English government to enforce their edicts prohibiting the growing of tobacco in England.[6]

Arthur was also a co-owner of a group of ships. A "Warrant from the Council to the Commissioners for the Customs," dated July 28, 1654, stated they had paid the duties and requested permission to import 120 dozen shoes, six barrels of gunpowder, and one ton of shot.[7] The ships were: the Hopeful Luke, the Margaret, the John of Berkshire, the Cretian, the Anthony, the Brothers Adventure, the Henry & David, the Thomas and Anne; the owners were Lucas Lucy, John Terence, Thomas Porter, John Jeffreys, John Colclough, Arthur Bayly, John Thermor, and John Wadsworth.[7]

Death and Legacy

Arthur probably died at Surry County, Virginia, where he witnessed a deed in 1656.[4] He died by 1658, when his widow was the wife of Christopher Foster.

The Arthur Bailey Family

1. Arthur Bailey of Surry married Mary, sister of Colonel George Jordan, Atty. General of Virginia, about 1654. Arthur died before 1658 for by that time his wife had married Christopher Foster.

There are no county records pertaining to Arthur Bailey prior to 1652 when Surry was established as the James City records are destroyed. He seems to have been a merchant in Jamestown, for on Sept. 22, 1638, "Arthur Bailey, merchant," was granted "halfe an acre of land, viz: 6 poles in breadth and 14 poles in length in James City Island. Due by Act of Assembly, dated 20 Feb. 1636, Fee Rent: 1 Capon yearly at the Feast of St. Thomas." (C. P. 97).

Arthur Bayley, on Jan. 15, 1637, patented 300 acres in Henrico, for the transportation of himself and five other persons. On Jan. 16, 1637, he received a grant of 200 acres more for the transportation of 4 persons, and on the same day he patented, jointly with Thomas Crosby, 800 acres. On May 16, 1638, "Ann Hallom, widow, and heiress of Robert Hallom" patented 1000 acres "due by bargain and sale from Arthur Bayley, merchant," (C. P. 78, 79, 86). Therefore Arthur Bayley seems to have sold his land and resided thereafter in Jamestown.

He left one son, Edward Bailey, who is mentioned in the will and codicil of his uncle, Col. George Jordan. The Colonel in his will says, "I give my cousin (nephew), Edward Baley 600 lbs. tbco." tbco." In the codicil dated June 7, 1678, he says, "Since the making of my will I have given my nephew Edward Baly a seat of land forever on the Marsh". (See Jordan).

2. Edward Bailey was born in 1655. This date is known because in a deposition made in 1693, he states he was aged "about 38 years." (Deeds 1687-94, p. 300).

In the "List of Tithables" taken June 1674, Edward Bailey had one tithable. (Deeds 2, p. 62). He also had one in the lists of 1684, 87 and 93. On July 6, 1680, Edward Bailey was surety for Ann, widow of James Sowerby who had died in 1678. (O. B. 1671-90, p. 317). He was appointed surveyor of the highways over Cypress Swamp, July 3, 1694. (O. B. 1691-1731, p. 108).

Edward Bailey's will was dated Sept. 7, 1735, and probated Dec. 15, 1736, as follows:

"Son Thomas, land whereon sonThomas now lives on White Marsh and Cyprus Swamp, also 2 new chairs and a gold ring; son Edward, land above son Thomas including plantation whereon I now live, a cow and a silver cup; to 3 daughters, Elizabeth, Hannah, and Jane my dwelling house during their celibacy; dau. Mary, wife of Samuel Briggs, 40 shillings; dau. Hannah, 1 cow; dau. Faith, widow of Joseph Blackburn deceased, 1 cow besides what I have already given her; dau. Sarah, wife of Benjamin Andrews, 1 cow; Desire friends, Nicholas Maget, Robert Watkins, and John Chapman to value rest of estate and divide it between Elizabeth, Hannah, and Jane. Executors, sons Thomas and Edward."

Children:

3. I. Thomas Bailey. (See later).

4. II. Edward Bailey II. (See later).

III. Faith, m. Joseph Blackburn. His wife, Faith, was administratrix of his estate in 1733. (Bk. 8, p. 314).

IV. Mary, m. Samuel BRIGGS.

V. Sarah, m. Benjamin Andrews, whose will was probated Sept. 14, 1736, and mentions son, William, and Daughter, Ann Andrews. Friends, Edward Bailey, Jr., and John Simmons, Jr., were executors. Witnesses: John Simmons, Robert Snipes and Edward Bailey. (Bk. 8, p. 637).

VI. Elizabeth

VII. Hannah

VIII. Jane

3. Thomas Bailey was one of the executors of his father's will so he must have been of age at that date. He was willed a plantation on Cypress Swamp by his father.

On Mar. 17, 1761, Thomas Bailey, Sr., and Edward Bailey, Sr. both of Southwark Parish, Surry, deeded to Thomas Bailey, Jr., for £50, 150 acres, "bounded on two sides by the lands of Edward Bailey, Sr., and on the other side by Cypress Swamp and White Marsh, devised unto said Thomas Bailey, Sr., by the last will of his father, Edward Bailey, dated Sept. 7, 1935. (Deeds 8—1760-69, p. 45).

The inventory of the estate of Thomas Bailey was filed in Surry in 1771.

4. Edward Bailey II. On Mar. 15, 1737, Joseph Seat, who made his will on that date, appointed Edward Bailey and his son, Joseph Seat Jr. executors of his will. (W.B. 8, p. 806). Edward, together with Joseph Seat, Jr., returned the inventory of Seat's estate, Sept. 20, 1738. (W.B. 8, Vol. 2, part 2, p. 901). It is possible that Edward was a brother-in-law of Joseph Seat, Sr., whose only daughter mentioned in his will was Mary Rose. On June 27, 1747, Marshall Seat deeded him 70 acres for £ 6. Said land was granted to Seat Mar. 15, 1742. (D.B. 5, p. 75).

Edward Bailey II made his will in Surry, Nov. 26, 1758, and same was probated June 15, 1762. (W.B. 1754-68, part 2, p. 290). He bequeathed to: "Son, Thomas plantation whereon I live on Cypress Swamp; son, Edward, plantation I bought of Holdyce Fort; son, Wm. plantation bought of Joseph Andrews; son, John, land bought of Marshall Seat; son, Henry, £ 10; dau., Sarah, 1 heifer, rest of estate divided between all my children; Mary, Thomas, Edward, Sarah, Ann, Wm., Lacy, John, Henry. Sons, Thomas and Edward exe'rs. Witnesses: Geo. Barrick, Christopher Moring, Henry Duggan."

Children:

I. Thomas, may have been the Thomas Bailey who qualified as a militia officer in 1764. (V. M. 23, p. 208) and was Burgess for Surry in 1762-71. succeeding Henry Browne. He also had a first cousin, Thomas Bailey, Jr. who may have held these offices instead.

II. Edward, inventory of his estate was filed 1763.

III. William, was Burgess for Surry in 1763-64-65.

IV. John, made his will in Surry 1786.

V. Henry.

VI. Sarah.

VII. Mary.

VIII. Ann.

Nancy -

The information I have (also undocumented by me - other relatives have done the research) is the following:

Arthur Bailey b. abt 1598 married Mary Jordon
One of their children was Edward Bailey b. abt 1655 and he married Elizabeth Jordon (second cousin).

Edward and Elizabeth had 2 sons and 6 daughters.One son was Edward Bailey II b. abt 1695 who married Mary Rose Seat.They had 5 sons and 4 daughters.

I have further information if you are interested.

1. ARTHUR1 JORDON was born Bef. 1600 in England, and died Aft. 1635 in Surry Co. VA.

Notes for ARTHUR JORDON: Notes for Arthur Jordon: There is an Arthur Jordan named in the head rights of John Moone in 1635. This record is the main basis for claiming that the Jordon children that follow as the next generation had a parent that came to Virginia. Richard Bevin is also named in the 1635 patent. This listing could be for the son Arthur Jordon who was only eight years old but the law directed that a head right must be 10 years of age. The preponderance of evidence indicates that Henry Brown acted as guardian for the Jordan Children.

Biography

1. ARTHUR1 JORDON was born Bef. 1600 in England, and died Aft. 1635 in Surry Co. VA.

Notes for ARTHUR JORDON: Notes for Arthur Jordon: There is an Arthur Jordan named in the head rights of John Moone in 1635. This record is the main basis for claiming that the Jordon children that follow as the next generation had a parent that came to Virginia. Richard Bevin is also named in the 1635 patent. This listing could be for the son Arthur Jordon who was only eight years old but the law directed that a head right must be 10 years of age. The preponderance of evidence indicates that Henry Brown acted as guardian for the Jordan Children.

4. William Jordan had children living at Gilsburn [Gisburn] near Skipton in Craven, Yorkshire in 1677, according to the Colonel's will. In 1664, William Jordan, about to die, sold certain lands to Henry Briggs. His will was recorded in Surry on 20 March 1664-5. He is said to have wife Ann [MARGARET ELIZABETH RAMSDEN] and 2 daughters.[THE MARRIAGE AND CHILDREN'S BAPTISMS CAN BE FOUND IN LOCAL YORKSHIRE PARISH RECORDS.]
5. Frances Jordan [M?F?]. Deed 100 acres on the James at Sunken Meadow, bounded between Benjamin Harrison and Charles Ford. 11 Mar 1652. JORDAN OF SURRY COUNTY

(For data from Surry Records, see Volume II., page 683 et seq.)

Nothing so far discovered in the Virginia records affords even any suggestion of a relationship between the families of Thomas Jordan (1634-1699), of Nansamond County, and of George Jordan (16 - 1678), of Surry, from whose brother, Arthur Jordan, of Surry, the Surry County Jordans descend.

The Surry County Jordan family descent runs as follows:
..... Jordan, in England, had issue:

1. George Jordan, born circa 1620; died 1678; came to Virginia about 1635; settled in Surry County; first, Alice Miles; and second, Eliza Coates (see Vol. II., p. 683). He was attorney-general of Virginia 1670. (See William and Mary Quarterly, Vol. X., p. 32). George Jordan apparently had an only child to survive infancy, viz: Fortune Jordan, married Thomas Hunt, and died without issue prior to 1678. (See will of George Jordan, Vol II., p. 686.).*
2. Fortune Jordan married, first, Colonel John Flood, of Surry County; second, James Mills.
3. Mary Jordan married Arthur Bayly, issue:
   (a) Edward Bayly, of Surry County.
4. Arthur Jordan, born circa 1627; died 1698; came to Virginia prior to May, 1655, settling in Surry County. He married, 1659, Elizabeth Barwinn (see Vol. II., p. 685). Arthur Jordan died 1698, (see will Vol. II., p. 691). Issue:
   (a) George Jordan, of Surry County, died 1718 (see will in Vol. II., p. 696). He married Mary (surname unknown),

*Colonel George Jordan names in his will a nephew, Thomas Jordan. It appears that this Thomas Jordan married Lucy, widow of Captain Robert Spencer, and had a daughter, Phillis Jordan. Thomas Jordan died in Surry County, about 1687, and James Jordan and Col. William Browne qualified as his administrators (see Vol. II., pp. 688, 701, 703 and 704). It further appears that James Jordan (who was one of the administrators of Thomas Jordan) married Ann, relict of Thomas Sowerby. (Vol. II., p. 707). Mrs. Ann Jordan died in 1697. (See her will, Vol. II., p. 691). James Jordan died also in 1697, and River Jordan and Richard Washington and Eliza, his wife, were granted administration on said James Jordan's estate (Vol. II., p. 691, and 707). While the parentage of Thomas Jordan has not been positively identified, it may be that he was a son of Arthur Jordan (circa 1627-1698), who died before his father. James Jordan (who was administrator of said Thomas Jordan), was doubtless another son of Arthur Jordan, who died before his father. This last surmise would appear to find verification in the fact that River Jordan and Richard Washington and Elizabeth, his wife (who was a sister of said River) qualified as administrators of James Jordan's estate in 1697. (See references to estate of Thomas and James Jordan, Vol. II., p. 701 et seq.)

It has been impossible to identify the "origin" of Richard Jordan, of Surry County, who died in 1699. (See his will, Vol. II., p. 692). However, the Surry records show a numerous descent from him.

and had issue: 1, George Jordan; 2, Arthur Jordan; 3, Thomas Jordan; 4, James Jordan; 5, River Jordan; 6, Charles Jordan; 7, Mary Jordan, married James Anderson; 8, Elizabeth Jordan, married ..... Baley.

(b) River Jordan, of Surry County (died 1700), married Priscilla, daughter of William Browne, of "Four Mile Tree," Surry County. Mrs. Priscilla (Browne) Jordan married, second, Thomas Blunt; third, William Thomas.

(c) Elizabeth Jordan married Richard Washington, of Surry County.

& this Coll° Jordan* & Major Hone† (who hath orders concern-

* Lieutenant-Colonel George Jordan was an early settler and prominent citizen of Surry county. As Captain George Jordan he was appointed a justice of Surry 1652, and remained a member of the court for many years. As Lieutenant-Colonel George Jordan his name appears first in the commission of the peace, dated December 22, 1668. He was appointed Attorney-General of Virginia April 12, 1670 (General Court Records), and was a member of the House of Burgesses March, 1658–9 (Hening), 1674, 1677 (Surry Records), and probably other years. In November, 1673, Surry court granted him a certificate for the importation of thirty-eight persons, among whom were "Mr. Wm. Jordan," Mrs. Ann Jordan, his wife, Mrs. Fortune Flood, "myself two arrivals," &c., &c., "Mr. John Cary, Mr. Robert Lee," &c., &c. He made oath that these thirty-eight persons were all his own servants or near relatives. His will, dated February 25, 1677–8, with a codicil dated May 8, 1678, was proved in Surry November 5, 1678. The following is an abstract: Will of George Jordan, of Surry, very aged. To be buried by my wife and children in Major Browne's orchard. There is about 2,000 lbs of tobacco in my hands due to the children of William Jordan, long since deceased, which children I could never find out, but am of late informed that they live at Gisburne, near Skipton in Craven, in Yorkshire; I order 6 hogsheads of tobacco to be sent home to them. To my two goddaughters, Colonel Thomas Swann's children, each a piece of plate of £5 sterling value. To Sarah Somerly, George Norwood, and George Briggs, also my god-children, each a silver spoon of 10 shillings value. To George Hogwood 400 lbs tobacco. To my friend, Thomas Somerby, 400 lbs tobacco. To poor James Somerby 3 ells of dowlas. To William Arnall 3 ells of Dowlas. To Mary Browne my god-child £3 sterling, and "if the law do cutt off Mr. Cary his whole claimes, as I know it will if it come to tryall," I give him £50 sterling. On the 15th day of every October there shall be a sermon of mortality preached at my house, it being the day my daughter, Fortune Hunt, died, and whosoever shall enjoy my land, although it be a thousand generations hence, shall perform this sermon and prayer. To five needy poor people a barrel of corn each. To the church a baptismal bason of silver worth £3 sterling. Out of one half of my personal estate I give 600 lbs tobacco to my cousin, Edward Bayly, and the remainder of this half shall be divided into seven parts, to be paid to Charles Foster, Walter Flood, George Jordan, James Jordan, River Jordan, Elizabeth Jordan, and Thomas Flood. The other half of my personal estate and all my lands in Virginia to my nephew, Thomas Jordan, and if he die before this will is proved, to my brother, Arthur Jordan, in trust, to be equally divided among my seven nephews and niece, Elizabeth Jordan. I have lived in this country for 43 years.

ing the estate) can give and hath given (I suppose) yor houn^ble^ acc^t^ off.

Codicil: Since writing this will I have given to my nephew, Edward Bayly, a seat of land called the white marsh, and therefore declare void the 600 lbs tobacco. To Daniel Roviere 500 lbs tobacco. To Katherine Maddison 500 lbs tobacco towards the curing her leg, if she be not sent out of this parish by the vestry before the cure can be effected. To Thomas Andrews and Dorothy, his wife, 500 lbs tobacco.

In 1655 George Jordan married Elizabeth, widow of Daniel Coates, who died in Ireland on the 15th of April in that year. He had before been married to Alice Miles, who died January 7, 1650, and whose tomb at "Four Mile Tree," Surry (the Browne estate), bears an epitaph printed in Neill's Virginia Carolorum.

Colonel Jordan had many relatives in Surry. In a petition recorded in Surry January 14, 1656, Hannah Hill states that her husband had died intestate, and asks that his brother-in-law, George Jordan, be granted administration on the estate. In March, 1661, Mrs. Fortune Mills, wife of Mr. James Mills, of Surry (who had before been the widow of Colonel John Flood, of the same county), gave a power of attorney to her brother, George Jordan. There is recorded in Surry a deed dated June 2, 1665, from George Jordan, conveying his dwelling-house and 400 acres in Surry to secure the payment of £300 sterling to Thomas Hunt, who had married his daughter.

Arthur Jordan was assessed with four tithables in Southwark parish, Surry, in 1668. There is a marriage contract between Arthur Jordan and Elizabeth Bavin. In November, 1659, in a deposition, he gave his age as about 30 years. His will, proved in Surry January 3, 1698–9, names his sons, George and River Jordan, son and daughter, Washington, granddaughter, Elizabeth Jordan, and grandson, Arthur Washington. The will of River Jordan, dated December 2, 1699, proved in Surry March 4, 1700–1, names his wife, Priscilla; unborn child; George, eldest son of George Jordan; Arthur, son of George Jordan; Thomas, son of George Jordan; William, son of William Browne, Jr.; if unborn child dies in minority, George Washington is to be paid £100 out of said child's portion of estate; Mary and Elizabeth, daughters of George Jordan.

Thomas Jordan, the principal legatee of Colonel George Jordan, qualified as his administrator. No will of the former appears to be on record, but the inventory of the personal estate of Thomas Jordan, dated January 5, 1685, is on record. The total value is 57,342 lbs tobacco, and among the items given are an "unfixt clock," "a pair of very old virginalls," "a base viall unfixt," and "a parcell of old pictures." There is a deed, September, 1688, from Lucy, widow of Thomas Jordan, to her daughter, Phillis Jordan.

III. Flood Family.

JOHN FLOOD came as a boy to Virginia in the *Swan in the year 1610. He was probably a kinsman of Walter Flood, carpenter,† whose will was proved in London, January 22, 1636, leaving estate in Virginia (Virginia Magazine, XI., 316). In 1616 he was in the service, at Charles City, of Rev. Alexander Whitaker. In 1625 he was living at Jordan's Jorney with his wife, Margaret, who came over in the Supply, in which William Tracy brought the emigrants to Berkeley Hundred. She was a widow, and in John Flood's muster, in 1625, are mentioned "her daughter Frances Finch"‡ and his son William," three months old. Flood was an active, energetic man, and in 1630 he was a representative in the assembly for Flower dewe Hundred. In 1632 he represented Westover, Flower dewe Hundred and Weyanoke.

Not long after he changed his habitation from Charles City County and patented in James City, in 1638, 2,100 acres upon the south side of the river, "east upon Capt. Henry Browne, * Hotten, Emigrants to America, but Brown says the Swan came to Virginia in 1611 with Sir Thomas Gates.

† The introduction to the Visitation of Shropshire in 1623 published by the "Harleian Society," contains an interesting account of the practice of the Heralds' College and the distinctions in English society about that time. "The simple state of society in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries did not draw lines of demarcation at retail trades; great foreign merchants, such as we have now, had not yet been developed. War as a profession for younger sons had ceased; also the custom of attaching them to the suites of the greater nobility; and the consequence was, that they could only enter the learned professions or be apprenticed to some ordinary retail trade, and so become members of one of these guilds (merchant guilds); thus we find that the younger sons of extensive estates became tradesmen in the neighboring towns, and did not thereby cease to be members of the country gentry." The carpenter's trade was especially honorable in the seventeenth century.

‡ In the list of the emigrants who came over in the Supply were William Finch and Elizabeth, his wife, and Frances Finch, their daughter. In 1622 William Finch was dead, and Elizabeth, his widow, was newly married. See Bulletin of New York Public Library, III., No. 7. Was "Elizabeth" a misnomer for Margaret?

north upon the main river, south into the main woods, and west upon Benjamin Harrison's marked trees, being up the west side of Sunken Marsh Creek." Among the persons for whose transportation he claimed land were Mary Flood and John Flood, Jr. In 1642 and again in 1645, as "Captain John Flood," he represented, in the grand assembly, James City County, then extending on both sides of the river. It appears that Captain Flood had much intercourse with the Indians, and after the peace with Necotowance, in 1646, and the Indians were forbidden to abode near the settlement, he was made Indian interpreter, and it was enacted by the General Assembly that "for his service therein and transporting such Indians as shall be employed from time to tyme to the Govr. in message or otherwise, he be allowed from the publique the salary of four thousand pounds of tob^{o}. yeerly." In 1652, and again in 1655, as "Lt. Col. John Flood," this ancient settler represented Surry County in the Legislature. In 1661 he died, when his son, Captain Thomas Flood, succeeded him as Indian interpreter. John Flood came to the colony a poor boy and spent fifty years therein, and rose to high honors. He married (1) Margaret Finch, widow, and had issue: 2 William; 3 John—he was a headright in the patent to John Flood in 1638. Probably it was his widow, Mary, who married John Washington in 1658. Col. John Flood married (2) Fortune Jordan, sister of Col. George Jordan, and had issue: 5 Jane, married John Cary, a prominent merchant; 6 Walter, born about 1656. X4 Thoma

4. THOMAS^{2} FLOOD (John^{1}) was a captain of militia and Indian interpreter. In 1663 he was guardian of Benjamin Harrison. He married and had issue: 7 Thomas.

7. THOMAS^{3} FLOOD (Thomas^{2}, John^{1}) is mentioned in a deed to Walter Flood, in 1692, as son and heir of Capt. Thomas Flood. He died, in 1718, when his administrator was his wife Ann. Her will was proved in Surry County, August 21, 1723, and names issue: 8. William; 9 Henry; 10 Benjamin; 11 Mary; 12 Ann.

9. HENRY^{4} FLOOD (Thomsd^{3}, Thomas^{2}, John^{1}) made his will which was proved in Surry County, October 5, 1740, and names issue: 13 Anne in England; 14 Elizabeth, married John Nicholson, of Surry County (and had issue: Henry, John, Jane, William, Elizabeth, and Flood Nicholson).

6. WALTER[2] FLOOD (John[1]) was born about 1656, and, in 1670, Mr. John Cary was his guardian. There is in Surry County the record of a bond given by Cary that year to Lt. Col. George Jordan and to Capt. Thomas Flood "to take care of Walter Flood when he arrived in England, to keep him at school and teach and educate him as his wife's brother." In 1677, having attained full age, he released Mr. John Cary and Benjamin Harrison, his attorneys, from responsibility. He married Ann Browne, daughter of Major William Browne, of Four Mile Tree." Issue stated in Major Browne's will (proved July 3, 1705), and in his own will (proved November 21, 1722.) 15 John, who married Mary; 16 Walter, who died before his father, leaving a widow; 17 Fortune; 18 Mary; 19 Ann, married William Cocke; 20 Elizabeth. In his will, Walter Flood mentions his grandchildren John, Jane and Fortune Flood. In his will proved October 4, 1739, John Flood gave his estate to his sister, Fortune, and to Nicholas Edmunds, a prominent magistrate of Brunswick County. This latter married a Flood and had a son John Flood Edmunds.

Fortune Jordan, the second wife of Lt. Col. John Flood, married secondly James Mills, a merchant in Surry County. There is in Surry County the following quaint epistle with comments entered in the county book:

Worthy ffriend Mr. Dennis* my Respects prsented to you &c. Sr. I would intreat you to doe me the favor as to come downe to me & doe me a Little work for my occasions are very urgent at present & for your paines I will requite you wth it along wth you, Hopeing you will not fayle in comeing wth what expedition you can, I remaine your Loueing friend in Expectation of yor good comps.

I have had many requests for more info on John Flood of Surry Co. - so here goes.

He arrived on the Swan 1610. In the 1824 VA census, he was living at Jordan's Journey - which was a plantation built by Samuel Jordan (no relation to George-Arthur Jordan). Flood's household had the following - Margaret Flood, his wife, her daughter Frances Finch (she was a widow of William Finch), and William Flood, age 3 weeks. John Flood Jr. was listed as age 44 in 1659 when he testifified he was living at Thomas Gray's house. So John Jr. was born about 1614-15, long before John's Sr's. marriage to Margaret. Then again, John Jr. was listed as age 30 in 1652. So, there had to be an unknown first marriage. Estimate time for the second marriage would be of course 1624. Thomas Flood (b.c. 1627) and Mary Flood (b.c.1635) were probably the result of the second marriage, although there could have been another wife in there somewhere.

in 1630, John Flood was a representative from Flowerdew Plantation to the General Assembly. He also represented Westover Plantation and lived there until 1638. The will of Thomas Pawlett of Westover listed John as one of his god-children in 1643. John Flood bought 2100a from the Bradston patent in 1638 - in Surry Co. at the "bottom" of Pipsico Bay. This land was on the James River between Henry Browne and Sunken Marsh. The headrights listed on John's patent listed 42 people which included Margaret, his wife, Frances Finch, her daughter, and John Flood Jr. Then in 1642, John was representative of James City Co. for the SS of the river. Surry Co. was created in 1652 out of James City County. In 1643, John became Captain of the Surry Militia, Lt. Col. in 1652, and full Col in 1653. He was a peacemaker in the Indian War of 1644 and spoke the Indian language. He was appointed official interpreter for the colony in 1646. The government banned trading with the Indians, except for two locations - one being Flood's house. So, there was quite a thriving trade business on the river in Surry Co. In 1653, the government ordered Flood to examine the removal of white settlers from the Indian lands. In 1652, he was appointed Speaker of the House. In 1658, he became Surry County Chairman of the County Commissioners, which selected the judges and ran the county.

John Flood's marriage date to Fortune Jordan can only be estimated by their daughter Jane Flood's marriage date. Jane witnessed a document in Sept. 1664 and signed her name Jane Flood. She had two children by 1669, so her marriage date to John Cary had to be about 1665. If we subtract 16-20 years from 1665, we get 1645-49, the probable marriage date between Fortune Jordan and John Flood.

Flood was away from home quite a lot - he wore many hats. Fortune ran his trading business. Perhaps that is why John Flood Jr. lived in another part of the county. Fortune was probably 5-10 years younger than John Jr. John Sr. daied sometime during the later part of 1658.
His son Thomas took over the job of interpreter. Thomas was a bit younger than Fortune. George Jordan took over the running of John's estate and sold much of the property. Fortune Flood then married a trader by the name of James Mills by Aug. 1660. I think he ran up a great deal of debt in the trade business, so property was being sold to close friends in order to keep it from going to the highest bidder.
Mills was everywhere except at home. By 1662 he was on the Roanoke River. Another note said he went to New England. In 1664, he was arrested for trying to slip a boatload of Blacks past the tax collectors. Finally, in Sep. 1664, George Jordan sat down and wrote a divorce (17th century VA style) between Fortune Mills and James Mills which stated basically that Fortune wanted nothing from Mills and that Mills was not to claim anything from Fortune - property, money, etc. The last word on Fortune was in 1669 when part of the land was sold to John Cary to hold for Walter Flood when he reached age 21. Fortune Mills was to have free use of her chambers. This was recorded in Nov, 1669 after Fortune died. John Cary took his family to London by 1671-72. He stated he was guardian to Walter Flood, but he wanted George Jordan and Thomas Flood to take care of Walter's estate and pay for passage to England and the schooling. Walter was about age 15 in 1671. Walter returned from England to claim his estate 1 Jan 1677/78 and released Arthur Jordan as caretaker (he had replaced the others). Most of John Flood's property had been sold, but during Walter's lifetime, he reclaimed much of the original. One story shows the character of Fortune Jordan-Flood-Mills. Apparently she had been wronged by a workman (or perhaps he was an unwanted suitor). She sent an urgent message to him saying she needed some work finished. This man later complained to the court that when he arrived, Fortune threw "stinking oil" on on him. Hmmmm ... very interesting.

Descendants of Arthur Jordan

Generation No. 1

1. Arthur[1] Jordan (Source: John Bennet Boddie, Southside Virginia Families, Volume I, (Pacific Coast Publishers, Redwood City, California; 1955.).) was born Bef. 1600 in England, and died Aft. 1635 in Surry County, Virginia.

Notes for Arthur Jordan:

There is an Arthur Jordan named in the headrights of John Moone in 1635. This record is the main basis for claiming that the Jordan children that follow as the next generation had a parent that came to Virginia. The author of the Jordan Journal attributes this 1635 headright to the son Arthur Jordan but I believe it to be a record of their father. This listing could be for the son Arthur Jordan who was only eight years old but the law directed that a headright must be 10 years of age. The perponderance of evidence indicates that Henry Brown acted as guardian for the Jordan children probably becasue the families were related in England. The initial Arthur Jordan probably died soon after he arrived failing to pass through the "seasoning" period that the early citizens of Viginia deemed necessary.

2. George[2] Jordan (Arthur[1]) (Source: Robert A. Jordan, Jordan Journal, History of the George and Arthur Jordan Families of Virginia, North Carolina, Indiana from 1634, (Indianapolis, Indiana; 1996).) was born Abt. 1620 in England, and died 1678 in Surry County, Virginia. He married (1) Alice Myles Abt. 1637. She died January 07, 1649/50 in Surry County, Virginia. He married (2) Elizabeth Coates Bef. 1655.

Notes for George Jordan:

His date and place of birth is unknown. His brother William is known to have children at Gisburne, near Skipton in Craven, in Yorkshire, England suggesting he may have come from that area.

His will in 1678 says he has lived in Virginia 43 years. It would therefore appear that he immigrated in 1635. He probably came with his father Arthur Jordan. The headrights of Captain Henry Browne, Esquire in his patent of 14 July 1637 for 2250 acres in James City County, on the southside of the James River, list George Jordan.

Alice Mills is also in the list of Capt. Henry Browns headrights of 1637.

Notes for Thomas Hunt:
On July 14, 1666 Thomas Hunt patented 836 acres land along the northside of the Blackwater River adjacent Charles city County, which passed through several hands before a portion of which passed to James Anderson in 1715. The patent described the land as being where a path crossed over the main Blackwater Swamp, below the King of Weynock's old field. The Jordan family became embroiled is a dispute over this land in 1675 with Willaim Broadrib. William sold it in May 1688 to Robert Randall who in Nov 1688 sold it to RIver Jordan. IN 1689 River sold 300 acres of this to his brother George Jordan which is the portion Mary Anderson received.

I have had many requests for more info on John Flood of Surry Co. - so here goes.

He arrived on the Swan 1610. In the 1824 VA census, he was living at Jordan's Journey - which was a plantation built by Samuel Jordan (no relation to George-Arthur Jordan). Flood's household had the following - Margaret Flood, his wife, her daughter Frances Finch (she was a widow of William Finch), and William Flood, age 3 weeks. in 1630, John Flood was a representative from Flowerdew Plantation to the General Assembly. He also represented Westover Plantation and lived there until 1638. The will of Thomas Pawlett of Westover listed John as one of his god-children in 1643. John Flood bought 2100a from the Bradston patent in 1638 - in Surry Co. at the "bottom" of Pipsico Bay. John Flood's marriage date to Fortune Jordan can only be estimated by their daughter Jane Flood's marriage date. Jane witnessed a document in Sept. 1664 and signed her name Jane Flood. She had two children by 1669, so her marriage date to John Cary had to be about 1665. Notes for Arthur Jordan:

See the deposition filed in Surry County Book 1, page 143, which states he was born in 1629. Arthur lived on a plantation at the head of Sunken Marsh off the James River. Unlike his brother George he stayed out of the politics of Virginia and conducted his life as a planter. He consolidated lands about him through relationships of his brothers and isters and his wife's family many of whom did not have heirs of their own.

Notes for Elizabeth Bevin:

John Bennett Bodie, the author, believves wife Elizabeth was probably the daughter of Richard and Mary Bevin. Another author believes that Elizabeth was the widow of Richard, however as Richard in mentioned in a 1635 patent it is unlikely that his widow would remarry and bear children, so I believe that Elizabeth was his daughter

Notes for William Jordan:

His headright is not claimed until 1673 by his brother George, then Attorney General. I think it likely that he came with his older brother in 1635, but was under the age of 10 at the time, and therefore inelligible for a headright. His wife's surname is unknown. According to his brother George's will, he has children living at Gisburn near Skipton in Craven, Yorkshire in 1677. He appears as a member of a coroners jury in 1662 with Arthur Jordan and Henry Briggs.

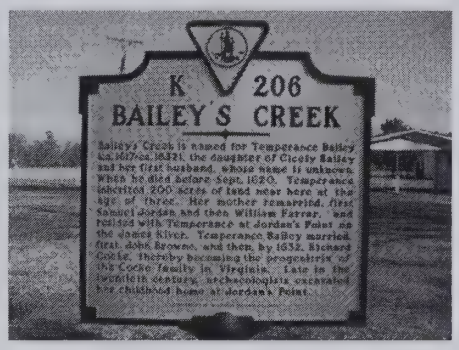
Jamestown Ancestor Cicely Reynolds Bailey Jordan Farrar

December 4, 1619 the first Thanksgiving celebration occurred at Berkeley Hundred, near Jamestown Virginia. The town charter actually required an annual Thanksgiving. Unfortunately, details of who was present or the food consumed at this event has been lost to history.



Very likely in attendance at the first Thanksgiving in the New World was my 10th great grandmother Cicely likely Reynolds (Bailey, Jordan, Farrar). Cicely arrived in Virginia Colony aboard the Swan in 1610 with Captain William Pierce and his wife Jane, who may have been her uncle and aunt or some other relation, at about the age of 10. (Some sources claim that Cicely's mother and brother Christopher also came to the New World. It's also possible that Cicely's mother had died.) Cicely's first husband probably Thomas Bailey died, probably from malaria, about 1620 and she quickly married her neighbor Samuel Jordan who was himself a widower and twice her age. The evidence of Thomas Bailey is in the existence of temperance Bailey and her inheritance at Bailey's Point. Samuel died in 1623 and Cicely married for a third time, to William Farrar, in 1625. (Some claim that Cicely was married five times, including Peter Montague and Thomas Parker, however there are no records proving this claim and it seems more likely that these men married other women named Cicely. A major clue is the fact that Peter Montague married a Cicely when our Cicely would have been married to William Farrar.) Cicely had six children, Temperance Bailey, Mary Jordan, Margaret Jordan, Cicely Farrar, William Farrar and John Farrar. I descend from daughters Temperance Bailey and Mary Jordan. It is believed that Margaret died young. John had important occupations in the community, but never married and produced no heirs. Cicely Farrar is believed to have married Isaac Hutchins and then Henry Sherman, but there is confusion regarding some dates and this connection remains uncertain. William Farrar II and Temperance Bailey Cocke are known to have numerous descendants.

On March 22, 1622 the Powhatan Indians massacred about one third of the residents of Jamestown and the story goes that Cicely survived by standing in the doorway of her home and refusing to move. The Powhatan Indians, impressed by her courage and beauty determined to let her live. While this story may sound far-fetched, there is a part of me that believes it. You'll have to decide for yourself whether or not you think it's plausible. Their property, called "Jordan's Journey," was fortified and many local residents, including William Farrar, survived the attack by seeking refuge there. After the massacre many people fled to more inhabited areas, but Cicely, Samuel, William Farrar and others remained at Jordan's Journey.

Cicely evidently proved quite the catch in the New World, because within four days of second husband Samuel's death, Rev. Greville Pooley sought her hand in marriage and she apparently agreed. However, Cicely was pregnant with Margaret, the child of her late husband, and wanted Rev. Pooley to remain quiet about the planned marriage for the time being. In his excitement of securing the hand in marriage of Cicely, Rev. Pooley blabbed all over town, causing Cicely to determine that she would not marry him. She supposedly remarked, "Mr. Pooley maught thank himself for he might fared the better but for his own words." Thus, began the first breach of contract lawsuit in the New World as Rev. Pooley sued my 10th great-grandmother Cicely Reynolds Bailey Jordan for refusing to marry him. William Farrar, London trained attorney and administrator of her late husband's estate served as her attorney. The court did not know how to resolve the matter so the case was sent to London, where they also didn't know how to settle the matter and returned it to Virginia. Finally in 1624, Rev. Pooley, persuaded by a fellow reverend withdrew his suit and Cicely married William Farrar in 1625. This case actually resulted in a Virginia law forbidding a woman from contracting herself to more than one man at the same time.

Cecily Reynolds Bailey Jordan Farrar is credited with the "invention of flirting in America" as well as "number one wife and mother of America." (Ray, Index and Digest to Hathaway's North Carolina Historical and Genealogical Register, page 135.)

*If the Thomas Bailey that married Cicely Reynolds is related to the Arthur Bailey that married her daughter Mary, I am unaware of the connection.

 Temperance Cocke is Cicely Reynolds great-great granddaughter through her daughter Temperance Bailey and Abraham Bailey is Cicely Reynolds great-grandson through her daughter Mary Jordan. Thus, besides being husband and wife, Temperance Cocke and Abraham Bailey were second half cousins once removed.

Hello Amber. My name is Craig. I'm doing family history work and I'm a descendant of Thomas Bailey. I was looking at his record on Family search and found out that the records for Cicely on there need some straightening out. I was hoping that I could post a link from Cicely's record to this page of your blog for anyone who wants to find out more. I figure that should help keep the records consistent and accurate. I was also hoping to post the picture of Bailey's Creek marker onto the records for her and her daughter Temperance.

Any more information that I could find out about the family would be appreciated.
My email is CraigHirzel@gmail.com.

Thank you for your help and for putting up the blog. It helps clear up her life considerably. Otherwise all I'd know is that she was recorded as married to three different men. Without the story it gets confusing.

About Cecily Reynolds

Cicely Reynolds, born betw 1593 and 1604 in Dorset, England; died 1677 in Farrar's Island, Henrico Co., VA. She was also known as Sisley or Cesley Greene, Reynolds, Farrar, Jordan, Bayley, and Montague. She was awarded with the title of "Ancient Planter" of the Jamestown Colony in 1620.

She was on her own from the age of 11, and grew into the much-courted and many times married "Glamour Girl" of the Jamestown Colony. She had good friendships with women as well as men; and by the time she was 24 years old, due to the death of her husband Samuel Jordan, she owned outright a successful plantation, Jordan's Landing, one of only four to continue operation after the Indian Massacre of 1622. Both Samuel and Cicely earned the designation "Ancient Planter" by the London Company of Virginia.

Parents: Thomas Reynolds and Cicely Pippen (1593-?)

married:

1. 1618 to Thomas Bayley or Bailey, thought to be the son of Samuel Bailey; Thomas was a member of the Governor's Guard stationed at Jamestown. He died of illness and in accordance with the custom of the Colony, Cecily promptly remarried.
2. abt 1621 to Samuel Jordan (1590-1623) as his second wife.
3. on May 02, 1625 in Jamestown, VA to Commissioner William Farrar.

marriages sometimes listed to Peter Montague and Thomas Parker are under discussion and not currently shown in the Geni tree. See below.

Children of Cicely Reynolds and Thomas Bailey:

1. Temperance Bailey, born 1617 in Charles City County, VA; died 1647 in Charles City County, VA. married Lieutenant Colonel Richard Cocke, Sr., born Bef. September 05, 1602 in Stottesdon, Shropshire, England; died October 04, 1665 in Bremo, Henrico, VA. He was the son of John Cocke and Elizabeth. It is thought that Temperance was named in honor of Temperance West, Lady Yardley, wife of Governor George Yardley.

Children of Cicely Reynolds and Samuel Jordan:

1. Mary Jordan, born 1621 in Jordan's Journey, VA; died Abt. 1670 in Henrico County, VA; married (1) Arthur Bailey 1654 in Henrico County, VA; married (2) Christopher Foster Aft. 1658 in Virginia. Arthur [illegible]
2. Margaret Jordon, born 1623 in Jordan's Journey, VA, after her father's death.

Children of William Farrar and Cicely Reynolds are:

1. Col. William Farrar II, born 1626 in Jamestown, VA; died February 11, 1677/78 in Henrico Co., VA; married Mary Williams 1656.

2. Cicely Farrar, born 1627 in Farrar's Island, Henrico Co., VA; died 1703; married Henry Sherman, Sr.
3. Lt. Col. John Farrar, born 1631 in Farrar's Island, Henrico Co., VA; died March 1684/85 in Henrico Co., VA.

the invention of flirting in America

- from http://www.burningsettlerscabin.com/?tag=cicely-reynolds:

Cicely survived the Jamestown Massacre in 1622 by, as the story goes, standing firmly at her front door and refusing to move. The Powhatan Indians were impressed with her fortitude and beauty and let her live. That story seems a little far-fetched, but who knows?

Note: Records show that few lives were lost at Jordan's Journey during the Indian Massacre of 1622 -- Samuel Jordan's son was killed trying to warn neighbors -- and it was one of the four fortified plantations not abandoned after the massacre. In the dawn's darkness, William Farrer rowed as rapidly as he could from Farrer's Island to take refuge at Jordan's Journey. He was to stay at there for the next 6 years.

Within three or four days of Samuel Jordan's death, Cicely agreed to become the wife of Rev. Greville Pooley. She was pregnant with Samuel Jordan's child, so she asked that the engagement be kept secret. However, Rev. Pooley was so impressed that he had won Cicely's hand that he spread the word. Not a good move, now a furious Cicely refused to go through with the wedding, causing the first "breach of contract" lawsuit in the Colonies. n.b. Quite wisely the Virginia House of Burgesses kicked the case over to London, and Cecily won.

Finally, at 59, Cicely Reynolds Bailey Jordan Farrar Montague married husband five, Thomas Parker. There were no children from this marriage, and Parker died three years later. Unfortunately, as was the case with many women, after this we lose records on Cicely. As a member of my mother's family, I can surmise that, at this point, she had thick wavy white hair, a wry and dark sense of humor, and perfect grace.

Family Notes

- from: The Sister of Christopher Reynolds of Isle of Wight VA?, by Susan E. Clement and Sybil R. Taylor © 1992 Reynolds Family Association

From the evidence examined to date, it appears that the first American genealogical writer of Cecily and Christopher was J.R.B. Ray in 1901. (The North Carolina Historical and Genealogical Register, Vol II, No 4, Oct 1901. Repr Balto: Genealogical Publishing Co., 1979, pp135-136.) Unfortunately, Ray gave little in the way of sources for his information.

Ray appears to have found Cecily entrancing, and he wrote of the "Mysterious Cicely Jordan"

At or about the same time, if not on the same vessel, in the year 1611, a ten year old girl named Cicely Reynolds, and a comparatively young widower, who had left his small sons behind him in England, arrived at Jamestown in the Colony of Virginia.

The young widower was Samuel Jordan, who afterwards established a seat on the James River near its confluence with the Appomattox, which he called 'Jourdan's Jorney'. Almost contemporaneously with the coming of these two, but perhaps a year earlier, Sir Thomas Gates and his companions of the ill fated 'Sea Venture' had landed, among them being Capt. William Pierce."

"This was followed by Joane Pierce, the Captain's wife on the 'Blessing.' Capt. Pierce was a relative in some degree of the young girl Cicely Reynolds, and doubtless the advance arrival of Cicely was known to both Captain Pierce and his wife.

Besides, Samuel Jordan was a near-relative of Cicely and her mother's cousin, and still another cousin (of her mother) Silvester Jordan, came about the same time, so there was no lack of relatives to look after the ten year old child, whose mother, still living in Dorsetshire, for some reason had consented to her coming."

These sudden and swift transitions in the life of Cicely Reynolds were characteristic of one of such adventurous spirit as to undertake a long sea voyage into strange lands, even though accompanied by near relatives. She was ten years of age in 1611, and must have married her first husband ___ Bailey when but about 14 years old, as in 1623-4 her daughter Temperance was seven years of age. The Christian name of her first husband has not been found, but it is safe to say he was of the same family as the Samuel Bailey who is known to have married a grand-daughter of Capt. William Pierce, her relative.

The grandfather of Cicely Reynolds was Thomas Jordan, of Dorsetshire, England, grand daughter, the mother of Cicely married a Reynolds [sic]. Her mother's maiden name was Cicely Fitzpen or Phippen, and she was the daughter of Robert Phippen and his wife Cicely or Cicellie Jordan. Robert Phippen was the son of one Joseph Phippen, whose mother was Alice Pierce, and thus Ciceley Reynolds was related to Capt. William Pierce and his wife Joane. This last couple were the parents of Jane Pierce who married as his third wife another celebrated Virginia character -John Rolfe.

But to continue the story:

Samuel Jordan of Jordan's Jorney, became the second husband of this adventurous daughter of his first cousin Cicely Phippen.

"Twelve years later, her brother, Christopher Reynolds, arrived on the 'John and Francis' and may have discovered for the first time that his sister was then married to her second husband Samuel Jordan and the mistress of Jordan's Jorney, with a six year old daughter by her first husband, named Temperance Bailey..."

At their home on the James [River] he and his wife and their household survived the Indian uprising that occurred in 1622-23. But not long after that Samuel Jordan died.

Very shortly after the death of Samuel Jordan, of Jordan's Jorney, one of the legatees in the will of Abraham Persey, a certain Rev. Greville Pooly, vociferously "woed" the widow Cecily Jordan, who rejected his early advances on the ground that she was with child; but thereafter she married Capt. William Farrar, a prominent man of the Virginia Council. Thereupon the parson brought what has been called by Alexander Brown "the first breach of promise suit in America". The astute third husband, being a lawyer, succeeded in quashing the proceedings, and Parson Pooly went on his way. But the child was born.

Thus Cicely Reynolds had been married twice and was the mother of one child by each of her first two husbands. By Captain William Farrar, she became the mother of two sons Capt. William Farrar Jr and Lieut. Colonel John Farrar, of Henrico Co. [VA] who left no children and never married, so that the girl-emigrant thus became the ancestress of the numerous Farrars of VA, through her son William Farrar, Jr. Her third husband, Capt. (or Colonel) William Farrar died about 1635-6.

The history of 'Aunt Cecily' becomes obscured by the ascendancy of the Independents or Puritans. In that transition, the old plantation aristocracy of which she was a part lost power in the affairs of the Colony. But her original chaperon in America, Captain William Pierce (II) wound up on the winning team in that shuffle. So did her brother, Christopher Reynolds (III)." [23]

Discussion

- Researchers have Cecily marrying for a fourth time to Peter Montague. Peter left a wife, Cecily , in his will proved 1 July 1659 in Lancaster county, Virginia. It is felt that Peter's first wife was Cecily Mathews, the daughter of Anthony Matthews. Many researchers state that Cecily Farrar had five children by Peter Montague.
- After Peter's death, researchers say she married in 1660 Thomas Parker, who also left a wife Cecily. Thomas came in the Neptune with William Farrar in 1618 and on 23 January 1625 was at "College Land."
- Said to have given birth to Samuel Jordan's posthumous son named Richard Jordan. This seems unlikely as the Jamestown Muster of 1624 reports her with three children (in a household of 37): Temperance Bailey, Mary Jordan and Margaret Jordan (b. 1623). Therefore Margaret is most likely the child born after Samuel Jordan's death. There is no further record of Margaret so presume died young.
- Said to be the younger sister of Christopher Reynolds of Isle of Wight.
- She is variously listed as a Fludd, a Greene, and most interestingly, as a street orphan swept up and sent to the Jamestown Colony. However the name "Cecily" runs in the Phippen family, and the connections to the Bailey and Jordan families, carried over in Jamestown, seem firmly rooted in Dorset. The real question is why a mother allows / sends her 11 year old child on such an adventure to Jamestown. That Cecily prospered materially -- she was a wealthy woman in her own name by age 24 -- seems an unlikely motivation, even for a family of merchant / adventurers.

THE MYSTERIOUS CICELY JORDAN

"Parker Family. In order to convey to the reader of these notes an adequate conception of the VA origin of the Parkers who practically over-ran the old Albemarle Precinct in NC near the close of the 17th century, it will be necessary to present some brief sketches of the families with which they were connected. Thomas Parker of 'Macclesfield' in Isle of Wight Co. VA, married the wife of Peter Montague[1]. This reference does not give the name of the widow of Peter Montague, so recourse is had to the will of Peter Montague, proved in May 1659 in Lancaster Co. VA, as shown on page 57 of the 'History and Genealogy of Peter Montague' by George William Montague (1894) in which her name is given as Cecily. And thereby hangs a most fantastic tale of marital adventure:"

Samuel Jordan of Jordan's Jorney, became the second husband of this adventurous daughter of his first cousin Cicely Phippen, and at their home on the James [River] he and his wife and their household survived the Indian uprising that occurred in 1622-23. But not long after that Samuel Jordan died. By his first marriage in England he is said to have had three sons: Thomas (b. 1600), Samuel and Robert Jordan[3] and in all of the genealogical accounts of these Jordans, each of whom came to Virginia, there continual bobs up the name of a certain Richard Jordan whose parentage is unaccounted for. Incidentally he married before 1654, Elizabeth Reynolds, a daughter of Christopher Reynolds, of Isle of Wight County. [Compare with double underlined portion below.] Very shortly after the death of Samuel Jordan, of Jordan's Jorney, one of the legatees in the will of Abraham Persey, a certain Rev. Greville Pooly, vociferously "woed" the widow Cecily Jordan, who rejected his early advances on the ground that she was with child; but thereafter she married Capt. William Farrar, a prominent man of the Virginia Council. Thereupon the parson brought what has been called by Alexander Brown "the first breach of promise suit in America". The astute third husband, being a lawyer, succeeded in quashing the proceedings, and Parson Pooly went on his way. BUT THE CHILD WAS BORN. His name was Richard Jordan, and he married his first cousin (as they so often did in those days) Elizabeth, the daughter of Christopher Reynolds$_4$. Thus Cicely Reynolds has been married twice and was the mother of one child by each of her first two husbands. By Captain William Farrar, she became the mother of two sons Capt. William Farrar Jr and Lieut. Colonel John Farrar, of Henrico Co. [VA] who left no children and never married, so that the girl-emigrant thus became the ancestress of the numerous Farrars of VA, through her son William Farrar, Jr. Her third husband, Capt. (or Colonel) William Farrar died about 1635-6. But Cicely was not near through.

In 1621 Peter Montague, then a very young man, came to Jamestown [VA] in the 'Charles' and was living in James City in 1624 aged 21 years. He was two years younger than Ciceley Farrar, the widow after 1636. He too, had been previously married and had two daughters, then very young, named Dorothy and Sarah. He married the widow Cicely as her fourth husband. His will in Lancaster co. [VA] names seven children, all obviously her children, but obviously also, not all of his family, this reflecting his previous marriage. It was proven in 1669. Sarah Montague, one of the daughters of his first marriage married James Bagnall[5] and the same authority tells us that the widow of Peter Montague became the wife of Thomas Parker. As Cicely was born in 1601, she was 58 years old at the time of the death of Peter Montague, therefore it is patent that this latter marriage was one of convenience, and that no children resulted. But this alliance with Cicely Montague, alias Cicely Jordan, nee Cicely Reynolds readily suggests an explanation of the persistent intimacy which through the long years existed and continued to exist between the Jordans, Farrars and Reynolds families as reflected by these records[6] and other items throughout the list. [sic]

It is claimed by one writer[7] that the Peter Montague of Lancaster (will 1659 and the one in Isle of Wight, whose un-named widow married Thomas Parker were different persons. This statement is refuted by our records. The author of the Montague Genealogy did confuse the parentage, but not the identity of his subject. Our records disclose that both Thomas Parker, who first patented lands in Isle of Wight Co. in 1658[8] who married the widow of Peter Montague, and James Bagnall, who married his daughter Sarah Montague were living in Lancaster Co. after 1659. All of the records we have examined, however, tend to show that perhaps not only James Bagnall and Thomas Parker but also Peter Montague had been previous residents of Isle of Wight Co, and further shows that Thomas Parker and James Bagnall were living in the latter county towards the latter end of the century. James Bagnall was the son of Roger Bagnall, who died leaving will in Isle of Wight in 1647, at which time his son John Bagnall was not of age.[10]

These early emigrants to VA moved about a great deal in their furious search for vast tracts of land and for social and economic advantage, just as people of this day and time and it would perhaps be a misnomer to say that Peter Montague, or James Bagnall or Thomas Parker were either "of Isle of Wight" in a strict sense, until they had finally settled down at an advanced age. In 1624 Peter Montague, then 21 years of age was in Jamestown (Hotten) and in 1631 he was witness to a will in Yorktown, or in York County[11]. He was perhaps "of York County" at the time he married the widow of Capt. William Farrar, and he was certainly "of Lancaster County" when in 1658 [53?], a year before his death, he was a Burgess from that county... Add to this the fact, as shown by these records, that Peter Parker of Chowan [NC], before 1714 had married Grace Copeland, the daughter of William Copeland and his wife Christian, and that this same Peter Parker sold lands to William Copeland in 1716 with John Jordan and Jane Jordan as witnesses[12] and little room is left for doubt as to the fact that Thomas Parker of "Macclesfield" who married as his second wife Cicely Montague alias Cicely Jordan, nee Cicely Reynolds, was the ancestor of the Parkers of North Carolina." in brackets added by S.R. Taylor.]

Samuel and Cicely may also have been parents to Richard Jordan (1624): Cicely was apparently pregnant when Rev. Pooley was making his unwelcome advances! This is not, apparently, the same Richard who married Elizabeth Reynolds, Cecily's niece. This last Richard seems to have been Samuel's grandson through his son Thomas Fleming Jordan and (POSSIBLY) Lucy Corker, though I think Lucy in fact married another Thomas Jordan .

I was not aware of the Basse family (Samuel's son-in-law) in Virginia, but it makes good sense. Thanks for the info.

I hope this is helpful!
